

ALFREDO PAPASEIT

TECHNOLOGY COACH | MEDIA SPECIALIST

PHILOSOPHY

My philosophy of education is to provide an inquiry-based, individualized and constructivist learning experience; helping students learn through project-based learning experiences developed using the Understanding by Design process. I strongly believe in enabling students to take more responsibility for the content, and outcomes of their learning.

The word literacy has always been dynamic, based on the socio-cultural context of the time. To be literate is to create meaning from and in relevant text forms. I believe in the need to adopt an expanded definition of literacy that recognizes the importance of today's multimodal texts, teaching these as an interlaced system.
